

NMEDA 2006 in California, USA The National Mobility Equipment Dealers Association

NMEDA is a non-profit trade association whose diverse membership strives to increase independence for people with disabilities. The conference is held annually and the 2006 exhibition was staged at Long Beach in California.

As usual the NMEDA show was very interesting and gave an excellent opportunity to view new products and trends in the Mobility area. The show is also a great opportunity to get together with dealers from all over the US and share ideas and experience.

Our partner, Bruno Independent Living Aids., one of the world leading producers of wheelchair hoists, scooters etc., showed a lot of new products among others the new Joey platform lift for power wheelchairs and scooters. Bruno demonstrated Autoadapt's car seat lift TURNY Orbit which attracted much attention among both visitors and Bruno dealers.

TURNY Orbit
car seat lift

The new Bruno platform lift.

The Bruno reception for an interested party!

